

The MacMillan Program on Order, Conflict, and Violence
Speaker Series, Spring Semester 2016

Rosenkranz Hall, Room #202, Mondays, 11:45 am -1:15 pm, unless otherwise noted.

- January 25                    Does Violent Secessionism Work?
Louis Wasser, Yale University and Ryan Griffiths, University of Sydney
- February 1                    Civil War as State Building: the Determinants of Insurgent Public Goods Provision
Megan Stewart, Georgetown University
- February 8                    Tribal Groups and Civil War Violence: Evidence from 1941-1942 Montenegro
Vujo Ilic, Yale University
- February 11
(Thursday, 11:45 AM)        Manufacturing Consent: Leisure Organisations and Model Workers in Croatia's Aryanised Factories, 1941-1945
Joint Presentation with Yale History Department
Rory Yeomans, Wiener Wiesenthal Institut für Holocaust-Studien
- February 15                    Nationalist Parties within Multicultural and Multinational Societies: How Political Elites Consider and Frame Immigrant Integration
Catherine Xhardez, Yale University
- February 22                    Competitive Intervention, Protracted Conflict, and the Global Prevalence of Civil War
Noel Anderson, Massachusetts Institute of Technology
- February 29                    Religion, Tactics, and Violent Conflict
Reyko Huang, Texas A & M
- March 7                        TBA
Andrea Jackson, Johns Hopkins University - SAIS
- March 29                    Can Ideas be 'Killed'? Evidence from Counterterror Targeting of Jihadi Ideologues
Joint with MacMillan Comparative Politics Workshop
Rich Nielsen, Massachusetts Institute of Technology
- April 4                        Parties, Patrons and Power Brokers: the Political Logic of Sectarian Violence in Punjab, Pakistan
Niloufer Siddiqui, Yale University
- April 11                        Do International Peacebuilders Encourage Interethnic Trust? Evidence from a Lab-in-the-Field Experiment in Mali.
Will Nomikos, Yale University
- April 18                        The Heterogeneous Effects of Violence On Political Participation
Ana Arjona, Northwestern University
- April 28
(Thursday, 11:45 AM)        TBA
Joint with MacMillan International Relations Workshop
Dara Cohen, Harvard University